OF NEW MEXICO GUARD LIVELY

Six Companies and Band Already Encamped, and Seven More Units Are Expected Early This Morning.

Columbus, N. M., May 12,-Mobiliation of the New Mexico national guard for service in the United States army was well under way here tonight. Six companies and the band of the First New Mexico infantry are encamped on the military reservation. Six more companies and a battery of artiflery are expected to arrive before

The militiamen probably will be mustered into service for the period of enlistment tomorrow and detailed o agaist in the border patrol. H. T. Herring, adjutant general, said that recruiting will continue in an attempt to bring the complement to the full war strength of 150 men to the company. Numbers of the 350 troops arriving here today had been recruited very recently and equipment was issued to them here. Many of the guardsmen are of Mexican descent.

Reports from along General Pershing's line of communication today indicated that the movement of troops north to Namigulpa from the adcanced stations continued. Communications received by friends in Columbus from officers at the front ussert ed that they were on their way north. It is not believed here, however, that he troops are being withdrawn north

And this is what got the seniors into trouble, or rather brought forth the cap and gown decree from the superintendent and the principal of the schools. In other words, some of the senters wanted to spend a small fortune on clothes, while others in the class could only afford moderately priced wearing apparel. So to avoid any ur ecessary expenditure of money or clothes, and at the same time to have the graduates all clad alike, the cap and gown decree went forth.
